

Behavioral Impacts of Trauma

Early Childhood Trauma Behaviors

This resource provides information focused on explaining how trauma impacts early childhood, its effect on development and behavior, as well as how to identify risk factors and protective factors in students and families.

Scope of the Problem: Early Childhood Trauma

This comprehensive resource explains how childhood trauma is unique and explores how symptoms can manifest as behavioral issues. The guide provides specific behaviors that children in the early stages of development (0-6) may experience as a result of trauma. It also describes the scope of the issue by showcasing relevant statistics and facts related to early childhood trauma.

These resources are part of curriculum created by CHDI, in partnership with the State Department of Education and Department of Children and Families for the SAMHSA-funded Project AWARE Initiative. Learn more at www.chdi.org or contact Jamie LoCurto: locurto@uchc.edu.

Trauma Behaviors: Signs & Symptoms

This resource provides detailed information on child traumatic behaviors including triggers, grieving habits, and others. The goal of this resource is to help readers recognize trauma behaviors in children and uses a trauma lens to explain the utility of those behaviors for the child.